Well-informed: research on reporting communications

"By understanding how commissioners use results information and what drives their satisfaction with it, charities can improve their funding applications and their reporting.

By understanding the challenges charities face in this area and what other commissioners ask for and use, commissioners can make appropriate demands for results information and improve their own use of it."

Year three of the NPP!

We have made some changes to our training offer for 2010-11.

You'll still get our premium quality courses at our low prices, but we're now tailoring more of our courses to your needs.

We will be running open training courses on quality, monitoring and evaluation and strategic planning in London, Sheffield, Manchester, Birmingham and Leicester throughout the year, but we've freed up our calendar to offer more bespoke in-house courses at a time and location convenient to you - get in touch to find out more!

Watch this space as our projects develop in Year 3 of the NPP.

Valuing performance case study - part 2

The second in our three-part case study outlines a bespoke new approach to monitoring for the Coventry and Warwickshire Infrastructure Consortium by The Solution Shedd.

Become an Outcomes Champion!

If you advise and support voluntary sector organisations and are passionate about the benefits of monitoring and evaluation, why not join CES' network of Outcomes Champions?

This four-day course will give you the knowledge, skills and materials to train frontline groups on taking an outcomes approach.
