Supporting third sector organisations in crisis

Providing support to voluntary and community sector organisations can be challenging. This is amplified when the groups you are working with are in crisis. This clear and engaging pocket-guide from Stella Smith will help you clarify your role, what you can do to help, and how to handle tough situations.

The LGBT Consortium joins the NPP

The National Performance Programme is delighted to welcome the LGBT Consortium to the partnership. Over the next year, CES and the LGBT Consortium will be running an awareness raising campaign to highlight the importance of performance management within the equalities sector and providing a programme of support to help LGBT infrastructure organisations support groups in this area.

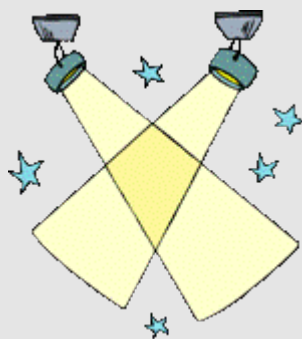

For more information on the projects and how you can be involved, please contact Anastasia Mihailidou at anastasia@ces-vol.org.uk.

Valuing performance case study - part 3

The last of our three-part case study on CWIC's journey to develop a joint monitoring framework explores how the partnership decided which indicators to measure, reflects on what they've learnt from the process and how they will move forward.

Spotlight on performance

If you have a story you think other infrastructure organisations could benefit from, why not become an NPP case study?

Whether you're a funder who supports performance work in your funded organisations or an infrastructure organisation who has supported frontline groups with performance, we'd love to hear from you.
